Trinity Mourns Untimely Passing of Nancy Anderson

The Holy Trinity community has recently suffered a great loss. Mrs. Nancy Anderson, a member of Trinity's English department for the past 23 years and mother of two Trinity graduates, died suddenly on December 4 of a heart attack at her home in Bellmore. Mrs. Anderson was 56. She was raised in Merrick where she attended Calhoun High School. Nancy earned her undergraduate degree and her Master's degree from Stony Brook University. It was at Stony Brook that she met John Anderson, her future husband. They married in 1969.

In September of 1981 she came to Trinity where she taught English to both 11th and 12th grade classes. Previously she had taught at Smithtown High School, then left to have her two sons, Scott '94 and Kevin '97.

Nancy's colleagues and students fondly remember her as a dynamic, one-of-a-kind educator. Her Mass Media course was a popular elective among seniors. Nancy specialized in teaching effective writing skills. Her talent in that area especially benefited English teachers throughout the diocese, for whom Nancy served as a special trainer for the grading of Regents essays. For over ten years Nancy moderated the Volunteer Club, coordinating a wide variety of student activities. With her energy, humor, profound insight, and caring nature, Nancy Anderson stood as the ideal Catholic educator.

Hall of Fame Induction Ceremony Set for April 3

Holy Trinity's 9th Annual Hall of Fame Dinner-Dance and Induction Ceremony will take place on Saturday, evening, April 3, 2004 in the Grand Ballroom of the Long Island Marriott in Uniondale, NY. Jim Fallon '74, Terry McNiff Tietjen '73 and Patricia Sweeney Jensen '73 are Co-chairpersons of this annual event where Trinity alumni, faculty, staff, parents and friends are honored. Dedicated to the memory of the late Msgr. John Seidenschwang, the Hall of Fame was instituted in 1996.

This year's honorees were selected by the Hall of Fame Committee from letters of nomination which were received prior to December 1, 2003. The 2004 honorees are Maureen and Ronald Ade, alumni parents; Sr. Consuela Fox, retired faculty member; Kerry Friel Minor, Class of 1984; James O'Doherty, Class of 1980; Mary Gannon, Class of 1979; and Robert Policastro, Class of 1978.

Maureen and Ron Ade are being honored for their long-standing association with Holy Trinity, for their extensive assis-

...Ten and Twenty-Year Reunion Committees; her involvement with the Annual Golf Outings, which she also chaired; her dedicated work with the Hall of Fame Committee each year, also serving as Co-Chairperson; her active participation in the Annual Alumni Career Day for the past ten years, and for the numerous times she served the students and fellow alumni of Holy Trinity.

James O'Doherty '80 has been named a 2004 honoree for his hard work and well deserved success in his writing and producing career in the world of TV sitcoms, especially as producer of such shows as Third Rock from the Sun and Grounded for Life; for his exceptional sensitivity and creative talent where he has conducted workshops all across the country using humor as a way to heal the pain for people afflicted with life-threatening illnesses. Jim is also being honored for his work with the Hospice community where he has spoken to thousands of doctors and health-care professionals on the subject of humor and how it relates to healing.

Mary Gannon '79 has been named a 2004 honoree for her long-standing association with Holy Trinity, her support and active participation in the Alumni Association having served as its President for the past five years; her leadership as Chairperson of her Ten and Twenty-Year Reunion Committees; her involvement with the Annual Alumni Career Day for the past ten years, for many of those years serving as Chairperson, and for the numerous times she served the students and alumni of Holy Trinity.

Bob Policastro '78 is being honored for his dedicated commitment to improving the lives of medically frail children and their families, for being a strong advocate for disabled children, for creating the Association for Technology Dependent Children, for the countless hours of advocating and working with government officials to create special facilities for the disabled, for serving as co-chairperson of the Long Island Network of Families of Children with Special Health Care Needs for the past 13 years and for coordinating the annual Legislative Breakfast which brought people together to advocate for disabled individuals, among other activities.

A reservation for the Hall of Fame Dinner-Dance and Induction Ceremony can be found on the facing page. Perhaps you would like to take out a journal ad to honor any or all of the 2004 inductees. Use the journal ad form found on Page 11. We invite everyone in the Trinity community to participate in some way in the 2004 Hall of Fame.

2003-2004 Annual Fund –The Right Move – Runs To August

Have you sent your gift to the Annual Fund yet? Response envelopes were mailed to 12,000 alumni but some people may have failed to spot them. Not to worry! Even without the regular postage-paid envelope, you can certainly send your gift in your own envelope addressed to the Annual Fund, Holy Trinity H.S., 98 Cherry Lane, Hicksville, NY 11801.

Other mailings have gone out to parents and friends of Trinity asking them to participate in this year’s Annual Fund.

The 2003-2004 Annual Fund campaign – The Right Move – began in September, 2003 and concludes in August, 2004. Gifts this year will underwrite a building-wide upgrade of our fiber-optic system to provide students and teachers with increased user speed on the internet. We have also adopted the E-Chalk system to accommodate individual faculty websites to enhance student-teacher communication. E-chalk provides additional opportunities for enrichment, extra help, and allows students to remain current when absent.

In addition, we’ve upgraded the English writing lab with 33 new computer workstations (all with new flat screens).

We encourage you to help Trinity’s current and future students make The Right Move. Your gift ensures Holy Trinity’s continuation as a school of academic excellence.

Giving Back — Annual Alumni Career Day

by Mike Gannon '83

The 8 a.m. bell still makes you jump after 20 years. You still have to fight for position on the stairs going from the first floor to your next class in room 412.

And some still admit to getting that eerie feeling in their stomachs as Mr. Boglioli calls names over the loudspeaker just before the end of homeroom.

The Annual Holy Trinity Alumni Career Day has become somewhat of a tradition in November, with alumni ranging from the 1970s to the 1990s coming back to talk to students about their careers and lives since high school, and how Trinity helped shape both.

This year’s was a stark contrast from the first career day eight years ago. Back then, the returning alumni probably numbered in the teens, were overwhelmingly from the 1970s, and were largely made up of members of the alumni board.

But on November 12, 2003 nearly 60 alumni spoke before classes of sophomores, juniors and seniors.

Our classmates have done some interesting things and lead some very interesting lives. There are doctors and lawyers, actors and artists. They’ve raised children right in Hicksville, and they’ve been around the world. They’ve been in laboratories where someone came up with the idea for something they called a cell phone or a fax machine. They’ve become advocates for children and the disabled and they were heroes on 9/11. They’ve taught our kids, healed our loved ones, sold us homes, fixed our appliances and kept our streets safe.

Some, with the encouragement from their former teachers have taken up writing and thus stumbled on to a career that beats working for a living entirely. Twenty minutes seems an awful long time to tell a group of strangers about being a nurse, a financial analyst or a stay-at-home parent. But with a few questions from the students, it goes by very quickly, and the alums can be seen, to the trained eye, going through their mental Rolodexes making sure they’ve touched all the salient points they intended to make.

Of course, first period can take time for the students and alumni to warm up. And it might be easier to decipher the Nassau County tax code then it is to hold on to a class of seniors in eighth period.

Someone in every class wants to know how much money the widget salesman and the corporate vice president make, and how much schooling and training is needed. The hardest part of one’s job comes up for a lot of discussion.

Those who return year after year can generally show their love and passion for what they do.

Most of the visitors will say in one way or another that no amount of money in the future is worth a job at which they will be miserable for 20 years.

And juniors and seniors also seem to welcome the notion that it’s okay to have not yet made up their minds about college or a career. They are able to see successful people who sat at their desks and occupied their gym lockers who have been fired, or who have changed not just jobs but whole careers three, or more times and the world didn’t end when it happened.

One of my fellow presenters this year asked a class a question we’ve asked ourselves repeatedly. “What do you think makes me take a day off and come here?”, asked Mike Szlepcsik ‘74. “Why does my classmate who is an airline pilot fly up here, from Florida for one day, come here and fly back? What makes Mike Gannon come down from Connecticut?”

It’s fun to meet old friends in our old haunt, and talk about what we love.

And then there is the one student who asks that question during the presentation, or who approaches afterward, and lets you know you’ve made a connection or given needed encouragement that all of us once were looking for. Then you know it’s all been worth it.
This fall season each of the teams worked very hard to achieve all their goals. These goals were reached by hard work and dedication that is common among Trinity athletes. This fall season the Titans experienced great success and represented Trinity’s great athletic tradition.

The varsity football team worked very hard this year from the middle of August getting ready for the tough and grueling season. Coach Mascia had his team ready to face any team in the league. Lead by captains Julian Glenn, Eric Lawler, Matt Nies, Tom Oswald, and Dom Tassone the Titans had some big wins over Chaminade and Xaverian that helped the team reach the semi-finals. Twelve players earned the honor of all-league showing just how strong the players on the team were.

The boys cross-country team coached by Jim Muller also experienced great success. The team worked very hard under the leadership of captains Tom Twiname, Tom Whalen, and Aaron Cunningham, and with all this hard work placed seventh overall at championships. Two runners Tom Twiname and Tom Whalen qualified for the state meet and earned all-league and all-CHSAA honors, something that has not happened in a few years. The girls also experienced a lot of success. Christina Pfeifer and Katie DiCamillo both earned all-league and all-CHSAA honors coming first and second in many of the races. Christina also qualified for the state meet and earned a medal.

The gymnastics team kept its great tradition of winning alive this year. The team won its impressive ninth championship going undefeated throughout the season. With impressive performances by the captains Kaitlin Bottio, Lisa Gagliardo, and Kristin Schweitzer the team was able to beat all competitors. The entire team also performed to the best of their abilities in all events making the girls impossible to beat. With a great season the girls were able to keep the long lasting gymnastics tradition alive.

Soccer is a very physically demanding sport and each athlete on the boys varsity soccer team was willing to accept that challenge. The boys were fierce competitors this season and played each team as hard as possible. Captains Matt Clancy and Craig Schnapps along with the rest of the team worked hard to earn respect from the other teams in the very tough league. The team was able to remain a threat to many of the teams in the league and worked all season to maintain that.

The girls' varsity soccer team was another one of the Trinity teams to reach great accomplishments throughout the season. The girls trained as hard as possible, each day trying to improve. It was obvious that the girls managed to do this by having a record of 6-7 and reaching the semi-finals. Captains’ Lindsey Boggier, Elizabeth Coons, and Megan Wosleger showed the leadership needed to have a successful season, and each girl on the team wanted to win making it easy to beat other teams.

Tennis is a game of skill and precision that takes a lot of work to perfect. The girls on this year's team were ready to work hard so they could achieve great success. Captains Dana Dorries, Kara McCarthy, and Olan Johnson were examples for the team to follow, and with that came great improvement. In singles and doubles the girls beat some tough teams like Our Lady of Mercy Academy to show that Trinity tennis would not be an easy victory for any team.

Girls swimming this season had such a great turnout that the team was full of girls ready not only to swim but swim fast. With all the numbers the team had all the events would be filled and the girls swim team, which usually does well, did even better this season. The team is led by Coach Buttazzocco and she spread her swimming knowledge to all the girls helping them to a record of 5-2. Two girls Caitlin Dwyer and Shannon Dwyer both swim fast enough to qualify for the state meet and represented Trinity very well. With all the accomplishments the other teams in the league respected the girls and for good reason.

In years past the girls volleyball team has had great success, and this season was no different. The girls flew through the regular season with no problem racking up win after win. The girls showed great skill and teamwork in each game. Because of the girls excellent regular season the girls made it to the semi-finals, but before that the girls knocked out the mighty St. Anthony’s team. Two players, Diana Anello and Justine Vanacore earned all-league honors, and added all they could to the team.

The fall season at Trinity was very successful and was a season of many improvements. The athletes all showed the league what the right colors to wear this season were; the green and white.
Trinity Theatre 2003-2004

by Jeannine Pace '92

One of the many reasons to keep coming back to Holy Trinity year after year is for its high energy performances and star quality productions on the Trinity stage. Another spectacular show season is already underway. Jim Hoare, the director of the theatre department, along with other teachers and students in the performing arts program have been putting in long hours to create a showcase that will entertain us as well as enlighten us. Even alumni have come back to direct and choreograph some of this year's productions.

The year started off with a bit of controversy. The Laramie Project, a modern drama that deals with the aftermath of Matthew Shepard's tragic murder stimulated many conversations among teachers, students and families. The play was meant to raise consciousness about human rights and tolerance.

The Fall show, The Last Five Years, was a new musical by Jason Robert Brown. Directed by John Farrell, it showcased the talents of Mariel Monsour and Robert Russo.

Trinity's Annual Christmas concert was held on December 17th and 18th and once again packed a full house. The concert band and string orchestra set the mood for the Christmas season. The Christmas concert had a little bit of something for everyone: dancing, singing, acting. Alumni Kevin Byrne '00 and Laura Sculco '00 came back to choreograph two of the three dance numbers. Nick Costa '00 also came home to direct "The Best Christmas Pageant Ever."

And this was only the fall season... Upcoming shows include the Annual Dance Concert under the direction of Cathi Murphy with the help of alumni Chris Jiminez '96, Dante Russo '00 and Paul Monaghan '96. Concert dates set for the 15th, 16th and 17th of January.

Lenny Motsinger, with the help of grad Tom Brown '03 will direct William Shakespeare's Julius Caesar. The performance will run March 11th thru the 13th.

The season will culminate with the musical "Into The Woods." Performance dates are May 13th thru the 15th.

These three 1976 grads competed in the 2003 Jones Beach Triathlon on stormy October 4, 2003. They placed an amazing....well, it doesn't matter where they placed, but they had fun doing it.

The three decided to contribute to the Annual Fund as a team, and they sent their check along with this picture.

By chance the three had met at the Gold Coast Triathlon in Port Washington in June, participating as individuals.

They had a great time and at Jones Beach they also ran into Long Island State Park Director, George "Chip" Gorman, another Class of 1976 graduate.
Tired of “putt-ering” around this winter?

TAM O'SHANTER CLUB

The Holy Trinity Annual Golf Classic, is the largest fund raising event for the Alumni Development Fund. Traditionally blessed with beautiful weather and a sold out crowd, it is probably our most popular also. Whether you’re an avid golfer looking for a chance to play on a course not usually open to the public or an occasional “duffer” just trying to hit the green or a volunteer spending the day in the sun cheering everyone on the day just seems to fly by! Starting with breakfast, the day includes lunch out on the course, with a cocktail hour and dinner following play.

Anyone interested in participating or volunteering can contact Bill Dalton for information at 516-433-7361
Holy Trinity is pleased to have your support for the Hall of Fame Induction and Dinner Dance on Saturday, April 3, 2004. With your assistance, we can continue to fund dynamic new programs that will benefit Trinity students for years to come.

HT on the Web

To keep up with the Holy Trinity Alumni Association, find us on the web at www.holytrinityalumni.org. Launched in March of 2003, the Alumni Association website has had a continually growing presence on the internet. If you haven't visited us lately, you're missing out on a great opportunity to keep up with a wide range of activities.

Information on Career Day, the Hall of Fame, mini-grants, reunions, and the annual golf classic are just a small part of what is available. The website is updated regularly throughout the school year and is continually evolving to better serve the growing number of alumni and your input is always welcome.

Take a few minutes to explore what we have done so far. We believe in lots of photographs, so you might see someone you know giving a Career Day presentation, enjoying themselves at the Hall of Fame Dinner Dance or dancing at a reunion. In any event sit down, enjoy the ride and use the links on the site to let us know what you think. If you want to reach us for any reason, our e-mail address is alumni@holytrinityhs.org
